SUMMER 2011

HEALTH PROFESSIONS COMPLEX IS GAME CHANGER FOR HEALTH TRAINING

Renovations to the Old Science and Health Careers buildings, as well as the construction of a new health professions simulation laboratory, have begun, marking the beginning of the final construction projects funded by the 2006 MCC bond election. The newly renovated buildings together will be called the Health Professions Complex, and this cluster of classrooms and labs for nursing and other allied health programs will offer students and the community an integrated learning experience that is unique in the region.

While the bond proceeds will cover the construction of this facility, a funding campaign will need to raise about $3 million to cover the very expensive medical equipment as well as furniture, office equipment and new technology for the complex. The MCC Foundation is submitting a number of major grants to federal, state and local funding sources and will be working with the MCC President's office in talking to local vendors as well as hospitals, physicians, labs, clinics and health-related industry outlets about financially supporting this important new facility.

The Health Professions Complex will not only allow much higher level training of health professions students, but it will also accommodate more students in these critical fields. The new complex will assist our community in helping to reduce the nursing shortage and to assure more experienced, edu-

MCLENNAN DISTINGUISHED LECTURE SERIES PRESENTS RENOWNED NEUROSURGEON SEPT. 20

Before Dr. Benjamin Carson became the first person to successfully separate twins conjoined at the head, before he had a TV movie made about his life, before he became known for his "gifted hands" and before he became head of pediatric neurosurgery at Johns Hopkins, Ben Carson was headed down the wrong path in life.

But he overcame the challenges of dire poverty, poor grades, low self-esteem and a terrible temper to realize his childhood dream of being a physician. Now Carson brings his motivational story to Waco to speak at McLennan Community College as part of the McLennan Distinguished Lecture Series on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

The event, sponsored by the MCC Foundation, will begin at 5 p.m. with a movie screening of "Gifted Hands: The Ben Carson Story," a TNT movie starring Cuba Gooding Jr. Carson will then take the stage at 7 p.m. for his lecture, "Gifted Hands." Both events at the MCC Conference Center are free with open seating.

As a child, Carson was inspired by cated and technically proficient professionals will be serving our local citizenry.

The centerpiece of the project will be the new 15,600-square-foot simulation laboratory accommodating a full contingent of 20 beds with high-fidelity human patient simulators that have been computer programmed to mimic hundreds of different ailments and illnesses. A $1 million audio-visual recording program will allow students to be filmed as they complete procedures and then be evaluated, with other students and faculty watching, so that they can understand what they did or did not do correctly. This extra step in the learning process will greatly enhance student understanding of patient safety issues.

An incredibly innovative approach aligns itself with the new MCC Health Professions Complex, and that involves the accessibility offered to practicing and already licensed nurses and physicians. Licensed professionals need regular skills update training on new procedures and equipment, but often this training is only available out of town or during busy times of the day. The Health Professions Complex offers the possibility of training in the evenings and on weekends and, with the new audio-visual taping, the training sessions may be evaluated at alternative times at the convenience of the trainers/evaluators. This expanded training opportunity for licensed professionals will be a model for other community colleges across the country.

Anyone interested in supporting this campaign or in naming considerations on rooms, equipment or buildings is asked to contact Harry Harelik in the MCC Foundation at 254-299-8606 or hharelik@mclellan.edu.

his mother, who – despite having only a third-grade education – challenged her son to strive for excellence. Young Carson persevered and is today a professor of neurosurgery, oncology, plastic surgery and pediatrics at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, where he has directed pediatric neurosurgery at the Johns Hopkins Children's Center for more than 25 years.

Among his career highlights are the first and only successful separation of craniopagus (Siamese) twins joined at the back of the head in 1987, the first completely successful separation of type-2 vertical craniopagus twins in 1997 in South Africa and the first successful placement of an intrauterine shunt for a hydrocephalic twin. Closer to home, Carson separated Egyptian conjoined twins in Dallas in 2001.

In 2001, Carson was named by CNN and TIME magazine as one of the nation's 20 foremost physicians and scientists and was also selected by the Library of Congress as one of 89 "Living Legends." In 2008, Carson was presented with the Ford's Theatre Lincoln Medal by President Bush at the White House and was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor in the land.

In 2009, a movie based on Carson's memoir, "Gifted Hands: The Ben Carson Story," premiered on TNT. Carson is also president and co-founder of the Carson Scholars Fund, which recognizes young people of all backgrounds for exceptional academic and humanitarian accomplishments.

After Carson's presentation at MCC, he will answer questions from the audience and sign copies of his books. "Gifted Hands" will be on sale at the lecture or may be purchased in advance at the MCC Bookstore. For more information, go to www.mclellan.edu/dls or call 254-299-8677.

STEINWAY Concert SERIES

SERIES LAUNCHES WITH ANGELA YOON CONCERT JUNE 26

A stunning performance by MCC and Baylor alumnae and vocalist Angela Yoon, accompanied by Baylor pianist Rachel Zapata, delighted the audience at the June 26 inaugural concert for the MCC Steinway Concert Series.

The series, which presents six concerts in a variety of musical styles, is designed to showcase the tremendous range a Steinway piano offers. From a classical Strauss aria, to a flute-piano duo, to jazz, to an All-American tribute to George Gershwin, the series will present the many faces and moods of the Steinway instrument.

Korean-born soprano Angela Yoon began her musical studies with MCC vocal instructor Lise Uhl at McLennan Community College, where she graduated as a Tartan Scholar and with high honors. She then went on to study with Dr. Robert Pianist Rachel Zapata, MCC Foundation Executive Director Harry Hareluk, Vocalist Angela Yoon, and MCC piano instructor Ruth Pitts celebrate after Zapata and Yoon's June 26 performance.

About the MCC All-Steinway Campaign ...

The MCC Foundation board of directors recognized in late 2009 that the piano inventory of the College was not only severely worn, but also included instruments that could no longer be repaired. As a result of this finding, the board approved a capital campaign to raise $911,000 for the purchase of 27 new Steinway pianos and create an endowed maintenance fund to keep the new instruments in peak condition. The Steinway purchase made McLennan Community College only the third college in Texas to earn the prestigious All-Steinway School designation.

The All-Steinway campaign is one of the boldest fundraising efforts ever undertaken at McLennan Community College. To date, the campaign has raised almost $650,000 and we continue to accept donations toward the full goal. Naming opportunities in honor of a person, family or business are available. The McLennan Community College Foundation is a 501(c)(3) and 509(a)(1) not-for-profit corporation that accepts tax-deductible donations. Inquiries may be directed to the Foundation at 254-299-8606.

TARGET RESTORATION

Imagine yourself the owner of a brand new Harley-Davidson motorcycle. Or perhaps showing your friends your original Texas Flag guitar signed by rocker Ted Nugent. Or, imagine being the proud owner of a new set of Callaway Diablo Irons or a Sharp flat-panel LCD television ... or packing your bags for the trip of a lifetime with FREE round-trip domestic airfare!

All of these fantasies can become reality for participants in the 25th Annual MCC Foundation Golf Classic, hosted by the McLennan Community College Foundation and presented again this year by Diamond Sponsor Target Restoration. The Tournament will be Friday, Oct. 7 at Cottonwood Creek Golf Course in Waco.

In addition to the usual fun in the sun to support MCC student scholarships and capital projects, this 25th annual event will offer high-quality Adidas participant gifts, great food from local vendors, outstanding golf at this award-winning course, and chances to win or bid on unique and memorable prizes.

In honor of the tournament's 25th Anniversary, the Foundation will also honor the six MCC coaches who have won national championships pictured here: Bob Ammon, Stan Mitchell, Rick Butler, Sandy Hinton, Vince Clark and Carmack Berryman.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been raised over the years through this golf tournament to supplement MCC student needs, so community-wide participation is important! The Foundation will continue to accept sponsorships through mid-August and individual player registrations ($125) through Oct. 3. Click here for sponsor and player information. We hope you will join us on Oct. 7!

TEMPLE-BASED CEFCO GIVES MCC FOUNDATION $25,000 PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLARSHIP

The next time you are in need of gas or a snack and have a choice of convenience stores, you might steer into the nearest CEFCO.

For the second time in recent years, the Temple-based convenience store chain has awarded the MCC Foundation $25,000 in proceeds from its annual golf tournament, held May 10 at the Wild-flower Country Club in Temple.

"This gift is always a wonderful surprise," MCC Foundation Executive Director Harry Harelik said. "CEFCO is a multi-state company that has its choice of worthy causes to support. CEFCO's focus on the education of its employees, many of whom are MCC students, is commendable."

In addition to the MCC Foundation, CEFCO awarded tournament money to the Children's Miracle Network Hospitals, the Children's Hospital at Scott and White, and Meridian Community College in Meridian, Mississippi.

SCHOLARSHIP UPDATE

This spring and summer, the MCC scholarship committee reviewed 592 applications for MCC Foundation Scholarships and thus far has awarded about 225 for the 2011-2012 academic year. Applicants were graded based on financial need, academic merit and recommendations, and were matched with scholarships based on the criteria established by the donor.

This year's scholarship recipients will be honored at the 11th Annual Scholarship Recognition event at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 13 in the MCC Conference Center.

The Foundation will also recognize those major donors who have established endowed scholarships and made major gifts to the Foundation's All-Steinway campaign. The Highlander Alumni Association will also announce the 2011 Distinguished Alumni and Distinguished Young Leader Award recipients.

The 2012-2013 scholarship application will be available online by Oct. 1, 2011. For more information on scholarships at MCC, please contact Lance Summey at 254-299-8818 or lsummey@mclennan.edu. If you would like to set up a scholarship fund at MCC, contact Harry Harelik at 254-299-8606 or hharelik@mclennan.edu.

A Word From Our Students ...

Meet some of the 2011-2012 scholarship recipients

"As I walked into the hospital setting for the first time and saw with new eyes how the nurses and doctors carried out their jobs of caring for those in need, I had goose bumps knowing that one day I would also be a health care professional. The scholarships that I was fortunate enough to be awarded last year made my first two semesters of nursing school possible. I am hopeful that I can finish my education and become a registered nurse with the aid of these additional scholarships for the remainder of my schooling."

-Dorothy Abshire (Lucille T Saunders Award)

"Ever since I was a little girl I have always dreamed of become a nurse and being able to help others. Now that I have been admitted to the nursing program, I am a step closer to achieving my lifelong goal. This scholarship will allow me to continue my studies in the nursing program and allow me to get closer to achieving my dream."

-Lizeth Mendoza (Jim and Judy Haller Award)

"This scholarship will affect me tremendously by giving me the opportunity to reach for the stars. It will benefit not only me, but also my mother."

-Jesus Morales (Bernard and Audre Rapoport McLennan Community College First Generation Scholarship Program)

"I have been a student for many years on a part-time basis while employed on a full-time basis. This is my first semester as a full-time student. I am very excited to be a true full-time student, but also very nervous at the same time. This scholarship will help me to be able to keep attending school full-time and reach my educational goals."

-Brooke Brown (Non-traditional Award)

"Being awarded the Victor and Iris Jeffress Scholarship is helping my dream of becoming a compassionate Radiology Tech come true!"

-Weslie Spencer (Victor and Iris Jeffress Award)

Lasting Influence

It's hard to imagine a person better suited for college recruiting than Dale Price, a 2002 MCC graduate who is a recruiter at the Los Angeles Film School in Los Angeles, California. His enthusiasm about the life-changing value of a college education, especially the one offered at MCC, is undeniable.

Dale is a 2000 graduate of Lorena High School, where he was active in student council, yell squad, tennis and FHA/FCCLA. Even this high-achieving senior needed some extra time to decide his academic path, so MCC was the perfect choice for him.

"I was responsible for financing my entire education and living expenses straight out of high school. My first scholarship I received was to attend MCC, and I needed more time to determine what I wanted to do with my life. Nearly ten years later, I'm fortunate I made that choice!"

Once on campus, Dale wasted no time getting involved.

"I participated in anything extracurricular while working part-time at The Buckle. A large part of me felt that while I was using scholarships and grants to attend school, I had an obligation to contribute my time to my community," Dale says today.

He was elected president of the MCC Student Government Association, which earned statewide recognition when it won the Regional Parliamentarian seat and was recognized as "Chapter of the Year." Dale was also an executive

The 4th Annual Alumni & Friends Reunion Picnic again lived up to its reputation as a rockin' good time! officer for Phi Theta Kappa, active in Sigma Kappa Delta and the Gay Straight Alliance, and worked with then-Waco City Manager Kathy Rice on an inter-collegiate council comprising student leaders from MCC, TSTC and Baylor.

After two years of study in psychology and government at MCC, Dale applied for the Rapoport scholarship through the Waco Foundation and, through that, was able to transfer to the University of Texas at Austin. While at UT, Dale was active in one of the country's largest service fraternities, Alpha Phi Omega. He worked full-time during the school year, and during the summers he worked for the Southwestern Company selling educational books and software door-to-door.

"That was a very rough job, but it was a sacrifice I'm grateful for today," Dale says.

Dale graduated from UT in 2004 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology and a minor in government. Today, he works in Hollywood on Sunset Blvd. as a senior college recruiter for The Los Angeles Film School and The Los Angeles Recording School.

"I absolutely love my job, as I help students all over the world accomplish their dreams," Dale says. "I recruit aspiring directors, audio engineers, animators and game producers. Hollywood has been a fun place to work too. Movie premiers, great dining, incredible shopping and fun people from all walks of life make Hollywood the icon it is!"

Dale is enrolled full-time in an MBA program at the University of Redlands with an emphasis in global business management. He and his partner, a systems engineer for Hewlett Packard, have been together for four years, and they enjoy traveling, hiking the Hollywood Hills, fine dining and visiting the nearby Santa Monica Beach.

Dale says he misses Texas dearly, especially Rudy's BBQ, Whataburger and "the Texas charm that Los Angeles doesn't offer." Most of all, he misses his mentors in student activities/career services: Alesha Vardeman, Jim McKeown, Dianne Ogden, and Paul Hoffman.*

"This team provided the perfect activities to breed creativity while building very valuable skill sets in leadership, time management, and excellence through academia. This group influenced me not only educationally but personally too. They held me accountable to achieve my dreams and now that same tradition is passed onto my students here at The Los Angeles Film School," Dale says.

Dale, who said he would provide any fellow Highlander free backstage passes to the LA Film School soundstages, can be reached at dprice@lafilm.com.

Editor's note: Dale submitted his story prior to the passing of Dianne Ogden. After he learned of her death, he urged me include his comments, saying, "I'm sure she would have really loved to see credit go her way for a legacy of influence she had in student's life."*

From the Foundation Executive Director ...

Greetings, MCC Alumni and Friends!

We constantly talk to MCC alums who are interested not only in joining the free Highlander Alumni Association, but also who are interested in supporting McLennan Community College. They have first-hand knowledge that MCC offers local students a way to achieve their college dreams (including Bachelor's, Master's and Doctoral degrees through MCC's University Center) while remaining near home, family and job. MCC graduates, almost 85 percent of them, remain in the area after graduation, becoming a part of our community's tax-paying leadership and employment pool.

By supporting scholarships through the MCC Foundation and its many fundraising activities, alumni support their community. Please consider giving to the MCC Foundation today through direct gifts, estate provisions, or high yield charitable gift annuities. We would invite you to call or e-mail us to discuss tax-deductible giving options. Please contact Executive Director Harry Harelik at 254-299-8606 or hharelik@mclennan.edu.

Alumni Career Center offers free networking, employment opportunities!

Did you know that Highlander Alumni Association members can post resumes and search for jobs, and employers can post job openings and search for applicants, all for free, on the alumni website? The Career Center allows non-members to search for and post positions; members have the added ability to upload their resume or search for potential applicants. Click "subscribe" and you'll be notified when jobs are posted! To use the Career Center, just log in to <http://alumni.mclennan.edu> and click on "Career Center."*

ESTATE GIFTS, CHARITABLE GIFT ANNUITIES MAKE LASTING DIFFERENCE FOR STUDENTS

Meet Lillian Marak Herbelin McKibben, a good friend of MCC who, sadly, passed away in April. During her long life, she gave several large gifts to McLennan Community College for student scholarships. But her most significant gift could well be the one she gave in death: a large bequest from her estate for nursing scholarships.

Unlike Mrs. McKibben, many supporters may not feel they have the resources to give while they are still living. However, including the MCC Foundation in a will to receive a portion of any sized estate can make an enormous difference for students at MCC.

CHARITABLE GIFT ANNUITY RATES CHANGE

The American Council on Gift Annuities announced new rates for Charitable Gift Annuities effective July 1, 2011. The McLennan Community College Foundation began offering Charitable Gift Annuities through the Austin Community Foundation in 2010. As a result of the unexpected and sad passing of a strong supporter of the MCC Foundation, Ruth Hix, the first charitable gift annuity funds were received and a new scholarship fund has been formed at MCC.

Charitable gift annuities afford donors the opportunity to invest in a high-return, guaranteed-for-life investment with current income tax deduction potential in the year the annuity is purchased. Any remainder in the annuity at the time of the donor's passing goes to the named charity. The MCC Foundation can create a scholarship fund (or any other fund) with the proceeds from the annuity at the donor's passing.

The MCC Foundation offers charitable gift annuities for donors aged 75 or older (single life or joint and survivor annuities.) Rates for single life, as an example, under the new rate schedule, guaranteed for life, are:

AGE	RATE OF RETURN
75	6.5 %
80	7.5 %
85	8.4 %
90+	9.8 %

(Rates vary between ages 75 and 90 proportionately)

For more information about including the MCC Foundation in your estate planning, or about Charitable Gift Annuities, please contact Harry Harelik at 254-299-8606 or hharelik@mcclennan.edu.

FOR PROFESSIONAL FINANCIAL ADVISORS ...

The Central Texas area is fortunate to have a wealth of educated and caring attorneys, CPAs, trust officers, investment professionals and financial planners. The McLennan Community College Foundation has been blessed to work with many of you, and we thank you for your support and interest. But we need your continued assistance.

Many local citizens with philanthropic goals manage to recognize some or all of their goals in their lifetime giving plans but fail to complete their mission or forget it altogether when planning their estates. We want to ask each of you to remind those you help with legal and financial issues to remember local nonprofit organizations as estate and financial plans are formed.

Education, for instance, is often a primary concern during life as individuals give to scholarship programs to help students continue to achieve their educational goals. However, though education is important each and every day, a "lifetime supporter" of education may not remember this priority in writing their will or setting up their financial plan. Remembering a nonprofit might be as simple as listing the nonprofit as a charity of choice in the obituary; this will cost the estate nothing. The nonprofit might also be a beneficiary in the last will and testament, remembered with a 2 percent interest in the net estate. This strategy can be of small cost to the estate and not burden remaining beneficiaries with a major loss of assets. If the estate is $100,000, 2 percent is $2,000. While $2,000 isn't a major loss to the estate, it could be a major help to the nonprofit!

In financial planning, often single individuals (or married couples not thinking about the last-to-die scenario) don't think about the difficulties faced in aging, such as making financial decisions or keeping up with investments. Sometimes a Charitable Gift Annuity is a great answer to steady income without continued financial decision making ... providing a high rate of return, guaranteed for life, with the remainder, if any, going to the favored nonprofit. In addition, income tax deductions are available in the year the Charitable Gift Annuity is set up. The McLennan Community College Foundation is pleased to offer charitable gift annuities.

Professional advisors can help area nonprofits by reminding your clients of the need local nonprofits have for support now and in the future. Please prompt those clients engaged in estate and financial planning to support the nonprofit community throughout their lives as well as in their estates.
